

AERONAUTS ARE FOUND AT LAST

HAWLEY AND POST WHO WERE THOUGHT LOST, SAFE ON TRAIN BOUND FOR QUEBEC.

LANDED ON MOUNTAIN SIDE

In Province of Quebec and Air Navigators Were Brought to Chicoutimi by Trappers—New York.

Chicoutimi, Quebec, Oct. 27.—Aeronauts Allan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, the two men who passed over Janesville on October 18 in their balloon America II, at a height of 10,000 feet, were found today by trappers in the Canadian wilderness, but they came in here escorted by a party of trappers.

The aeronauts landed on the mountain side in Lake du Bon du Salut township. The trappers brought them in a canoe to Stambrose, then forty miles over rough country to Chicoutimi. Their balloon traveled forty-six hours and made 1,355 miles in an air line, but actually traveled about 1000 miles. Hawley and Post left here by train this morning and will reach Quebec about six o'clock this evening. A party of trappers is starting a search for the America and will bring the big gas bag back to civilization.

A Rousing Welcome.
New York, Oct. 27.—A good portion of the residents offered for locating Hawley and Post in the balloon America II, winners of the International trophy, will be spent in welcoming the air navigators, according to plans laid at the Aero Club of America today. The reception will be the most elaborate ever accorded any aeronauts. It is said.

Fifty Years Ago.
In connection with the finding of Hawley and Post, the two navigators who are returning from the wilds of the province of Quebec where their balloon landed, an interesting story of the voyage of two aeronauts of fifty years ago is told by J. D. Boole of Glenwood Springs, Lake Geneva, who with his wife is visiting in the city.

Two men, J. C. Haddock and a Mr. Lamont with the balloon Atlantic made an expedition from Watertown, New York, in the year 1860. They did not know what course they would take and after crossing the St. Lawrence river lost their bearings. They discovered themselves soon afterward over a forest and to get the balloon to drop they cut all their ballast, including clothing and ballast. They came down in a tree top in the forest about three hundred miles from Quebec, in the region where Hawley and Post landed. Haddock and Lamont had no knowledge of their whereabouts and wandered about for days, but were finally found by Indians who acted as guides to Quebec. From Quebec the men took the train for their homes. During their absence, they found they had been given up for dead and elaborate funeral services in their honor had been held. In their honor, Haddock was a brother of the Rev. Haddock who was murdered about twenty years ago in Sioux City, Iowa, for making prohibition speeches.

Magnificent Monument of Famous Confederate Leader Unveiled at State Capitol Grounds.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 27.—A magnificent monument to Gen. John B. Hood, a tribute to the memory of the famous Confederate leader from the people of Texas was unveiled today in the grounds of the state capitol. Governor Thomas M. Campbell and other prominent citizens of Texas, together with many of the veterans who served under Gen. Hood, attended the ceremonies of dedication.

The unveiling of the monument was the principal feature of the thirty-ninth annual reunion of Hood's Texas Brigade, which has been holding its sessions here the past two days. Nearly all of the survivors of the brigade were in attendance, some of them coming from distant parts of the country to attend the ceremony.

A parade to the scene of the day's ceremony began shortly after nine o'clock this morning. The procession formed at the corner of Congress and Fifth street and moved north on Congress avenue to the capitol. In line were many Confederate veterans, Governor Campbell and his staff, the local military organizations, the faculty and students of the University of Texas and the children of the public schools.

Arriving at the monument a vast concourse of people was assembled. The exercises were opened with music, followed with prayer by the chaplain and an introductory speech by Gen. William R. Hamby, president of Hood's Texas Brigade Association. Following the unveiling of the monument the speech of presentation was made by Hon. John H. Kirby of Houston. Governor Campbell, in an address in which glowing tribute was paid to Gen. Hood and the soldiers of the Confederacy, accepted the memorial in behalf of the State of Texas.

The monument was erected at a cost of $50,000, which was raised by public subscription. It is a shaft of granite, standing at a height of nearly fifty feet, surmounted by a life-size bronze statue of Gen. Hood. The base is about sixteen feet square, and the die is four feet eight inches square.

On the face of the die is inscribed the formation of the brigade, showing the names of the several regiments which are as follows: First, Fourth and Fifth Texas, Third Arkansas, Eleventh Georgia and Hampton's Legion.

On the different faces of the die are also inscribed the names of some of the leading battles in which the brigade participated, including Seven Pines, Gaines Mill, Second Manassas, Sharpsburg, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Knoxville, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor and Appomattox.

ASSEMBLING AT TORONTO

Proposed Changes in Methods of Religious Work to be Discussed—2,000 Delegates on Hand.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 27.—Two thousand delegates representing five hundred churches and thousands of members of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America are in Toronto in readiness for the opening of the thirty-seventh international convention of the organization. It is the first time in a quarter of a century that the international convention has met in Canada and as a consequence the gathering has aroused great interest throughout the Dominion. During the three days' session many important questions of policy will be discussed, reports showing the progress of the religious, educational and other activities of the association will be considered, and addresses will be delivered by a number of men of wide reputation.

As a preliminary to the opening of the convention proper several important conferences and committee meetings were held today. At the King Edward Hotel a conference was held to consider industrial and immigration problems. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, John H. Mott and other men of prominence addressed the meeting.

Proposed changes in the methods of religious work will receive much attention from the convention this year. Plans for broadening the educational work of the association will also be exhaustively discussed, and the work of the junior department and of the college will be reviewed at length.

West Wants a Voice.
A matter that is likely to incite a discussion in the convention is a resolution prepared by a number of Pacific Coast associations asking that the plan of governing the international organization be changed so as to give the smaller associations a voice in the management of affairs. It is asked by the associations of Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria, San Francisco, Spokane and other far western cities that the initiative and referendum be substituted so that all associations may have the privilege of voting on important matters affecting the policy of the organization.

COLORADO MAN SENT TO CITY PEST HOUSE

Allen Horn, age 25, who was sent to the county house from Holst yesterday on the supposition that he was suffering with a certain non-contagious disease, was today declared by Dr. Nussan to be afflicted with small-pox and taken to the local detention hospital. According to the last report from the case this afternoon there was some trouble out there, the management refusing to admit the man without the O. K. of Health Officer Richards, and he was being kept at fish-pole length out doors. It is a nice question whether or not it is up to the city of Janesville to look after Holst's patients. Horn was kept isolated at the county house, owing to the nature of the disease with which he was supposed to be suffering, and no one was exposed.

There will be a meeting of the Bar Court tonight. Special business and work.

URGES ESTABLISHMENT OF CENTRAL BANK OF ISSUE

GEORGE M. REYNOLDS OF CHICAGO ADDRESS TO BANKERS ON WEDNESDAY.

FORCIBLE TALK IS GIVEN

Climax of the Successful Session Came With Talk by Distinguished Financier.

At the afternoon session of "Group number Five of the Wisconsin Bankers' Association" yesterday, the principal address was delivered by George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago. Mr. Reynolds is an able speaker, and is considered as an authority on many important banking questions. He has been president of the American Bankers' Association and has acted on various commissions in relation to banking legislation. It was a rare treat to the bankers of this section to hear him and his remarks were enjoyed and appreciated by everyone who was present. No definite subject had been assigned to Mr. Reynolds so he took for his topic one of special interest to him, "Responsibility of the Banker to the Public," and emphasized in this connection the great need of a revised system of currency in this country advocating a central bank.

In opening his speech, Mr. Reynolds said the banker held a peculiarly responsible position in the community. His bank formed a depository for the credits of the locality and upon the stability of the institution depended in a large measure the success and prosperity of the people. If they would, bankers could mould very largely the public sentiment of their region in regard to money and banking questions. Bankers were by nature a conservative set of men and they could create a conservative opinion. Consequently bankers should interest themselves in politics and help to correct many of the errors that the majority of people entertain today regarding the capital of the country.

It is inevitable that the capital of the country will be controlled by the government and it is therefore necessary that there be absolute fairness in the nature of the laws that are enacted, and this fairness can best be engendered by public opinion moulded by the banking interests of the nation. Bankers are the conservators of the people's wealth and with such a responsibility on their hands bankers should get together and through public sentiment cause laws to be enacted which will prevent upheavals and panics.

One of the causes of the hostility which exists today against capital, is the indiscriminate criticism which is heard on every side. People do not stop to think of what capital has done for the country and they do not realize that the growth and development of the nation depends upon the very wealth that they deprecate. It is the right thing to stop the misce of capital, but we need a sane view of capital on the part of the public.

Mr. Reynolds said that his had had been a change in the currency system of the country. He believed in a central bank. "We need a system by which, in strenuous times, we can get sufficient credit to carry on our business. In times of stress the small banks believe that all they have to do is to draw on their city correspondents which is all right as long as the city banks can respond. But the large banks do not always have the means to respond and when they refuse and begin to draw in their horns there is danger of a panic as was the case in 1907. The solution which had to be resorted to in '07 was the clearing house method and the plan for the central bank is nothing more or less than that system."

One of the great fears that is expressed concerning the central bank is that it will get into the hands of Wall street and a system of branch banks will result. As an ideal system.

CORPORATION HAD NOT REGISTERED

In Wisconsin and Bicknell Contract for Advertising Was Therefore Null and Void.

Before Judge Fifield in municipal court this morning long delayed arguments were heard in the case of the Motor Boat Publishing company vs. the Bicknell Manufacturing & Supply company of Janesville to recover $88 on an alleged advertising contract. Attorneys on both sides upon investigating the law found that owing to the fact that the plaintiff concern was a foreign corporation which had failed to register in Wisconsin, no contract of any kind could be enforced. The case was therefore dismissed. W. H. Dougherty represented the plaintiff and A. M. Fisher, the defendant.

Never before in the history of the theatrical world has there been offered to music-lovers of this city such a treat as is in store for them when Signor Luigi D'Urbano the eccentric band leader and his skilled band of forty-five musicians make their appearance at the Myers theatre for concert, commencing Thursday, Oct. 27, with matinee. Signor D'Urbano is a tall, well-built, athletic looking man, with an engaging personality and a wealth of long black hair. His hair as oftentimes comes in for scoring from the musical critics.

To see him direct his band, every man of which is an artist in every sense of the word, is a revolution. You see a long, black mass of hair go of the noted pianists of the country are to appear at the Myers theatre.

Any one of the three artists engaged would be a rare musical treat but the combined concert promises to be one of more than unusual interest not only to members of the club itself, but to the public at large who are invited to attend. The club is perhaps a bit adventurous in its initial concert for the year as it is seldom that three such finished artists are on one program, but it is to be hoped that the public will respond and aid them in bringing to the city such talent.

through the air to the accompaniment of the swining of arms and body and you wonder what is happening. The leader stands on his toes, leans over and talks to his men, begs them to give forth good music, sways back and forth, leans back and shakes his head while his long, black hair hangs around his face like an aureole, while control over his men is marvelous to behold. They may be playing with all their power when a slim hand is upraised and like a well balanced piece of machinery, the music comes to a stop—not a break—but a discord—but to blinding tones. And such music it is exultant joy to listen to.

An added feature to the great Italian band is a quartet of grand opera singers.

with the Metropolitan Opera company as prima donna soprano for the past two seasons, Arturo Tibaldi is in reality an Englishman who has studied in Italy under the best masters and has become one of the best known violin soloists on the continent. His press notices are filled with flattering notes by the musical critics of Europe. Silvio Seronte, the pianist of the trio, is one of the recent arrivals in this country that is rapidly gaining fame for himself and his nation.

Taking it all in all the program is one that can not be equalled even in some of the larger musical communities than Janesville and the interest shown by members of the Apollo club and their friends, both here and in adjacent cities, shows that it will prove a success.

Marquis and Lynn.

The finest attraction of its kind ever offered for the entertainment of the public is the musical act secured by Manager James Connors for the new vaudeville theatre, commencing to-night with the Italian and onetime and lasting through the rest of this week. Marquis and Lynn are the actors and they appear as comedy trick and dancing violinists. The sketch is said to be one of the most unique and enjoyable ever put on in Janesville. Both are high paid actors and come here from Grand Rapids, Iowa, where they scored a big hit. Their work is far superior to that of the usual musical act seen in vaudeville houses where the performers are secured for their low-priced services and not for the excellence of their exhibition.

CAPTAIN DYING TO SAVE HIS SHIP, IS RESCUED

Officer of Schooner Holliswood Tells of Crew's Desertion and Fight for Life.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 27.—The steamship Parkwood, Capt. R. Falcon, reached port towing the schooner Holliswood, with about 680,000 feet of lumber below decks which was picked up 100 miles off Campeche banks with Capt. E. E. Walls, who had been deserted by his crew, the only person on board.

Almost dead from exposure and delirious from hunger and drinking salt water for 84 hours, the captain, regained consciousness when aboard the Parkwood and threatened to go back to the schooner unless the Parkwood would bring the dismantled ship into port.

Captain Falcon feared to tow the rudderless, mastless, sparless and dilapidated storm-cracked schooner, with all but about 110,000 feet of its original cargo of lumber. He finally decided to make the try, and for one week he battled.

Replying to an inquiry as to why he did not go aboard the schooner Harold, which took his crew off the helpless schooner, the captain said:

"I refused to go, because I was willing to take a chance with the Holliswood, as the wind was blowing. But before I was picked up on October 26, I had suffered for food and water and exposure from the heavy seas which washed the schooner for two days after the Harold left. The Harold did not leave me a crumb or a drop of fresh water. I had none aboard, for we lost our supplies before the Harold took off my men.

"They appeared to imagine that I would not last long with the schooner; that I was a fool to stick to her, and that I would not need food or water. But I fooled them, and here I am."

Shoots Fox, Then Saves Him.

La Junta, Col., Oct. 27.—After shooting Peter Arnold, a wealthy sheepman, in a feud, on a ranch ten miles west of here, William Hardesty, foreman for a rival ranch, probably saved Arnold's life by binding up his wounds to keep him from bleeding to death. He then reported the shooting and surrendered.

derson brought him here from Edgerton and took him to the county hospital where he will receive treatment until he is in condition to work again.

Exceptional Program AT LYRIC THEATRE For balance of the week

Here's a top liner that's a scream. See

McKee, Richmond & Co., in "The Siege of the Seven Vales."

A most laughable military travesty. Takes place at the foot of Lookout Mountain during Civil War times. It's a side splitter, ludicrously funny. Remember the old saw, "Laugh and the world laughs with you" and then come and see this act.

Another funny one is that big fellow

Ned Nelson

In character singing, Irish comedy and Irish impersonations. For those who care to see this kind of an act Nelson shouldn't be missed.

Amon Cain

He of the wonderful baritone will render the latest popular songs.

Two New Reels of Pictures

Pathe's "Max is Absent Minded," is an exceedingly clever comedy that you'll enjoy. The Biograph's "That Chink at Golden Gulch" is a strong western drama that appeals. Amateur night tomorrow night.

CITY BLOCKED INTERURBAN CO.

IN ITS EFFORT TO START CONSTRUCTION WORK.

ON NORTH BLUFF STREET

Three Teams and Little Crew From Edgerton Were Only Fussing With the Gravel.

After being compelled to desist by unsympathetic officials at Edgerton, a small crew, temporarily employed by the Cincinnati Construction Co., came to Janesville this week to play in the dirt and put up the first of beginning work on the long projected interurban road to Madison. The outfit was headed by Stephen Madden of Edgerton and Chas. Williams, his foreman, and three teams were included in the outfit. They arrived on the scene Monday and worked a while that afternoon and the next morning before the city government put a stop to their operations.

Permit to Fill Holes.
The strangers did not state the real purpose of their mission here when they applied to Alderman George Luchford for permission to fill some holes and level up the roadway on North Bluff street just north of the new house. Mistaking them for a new type of good roads volunteers, the alderman of the second ward readily acquiesced. Later on reports came to him of rather extensive operations in that vicinity, consisting largely in moving gravel from one side of the road to the other and then back again. He consulted with the mayor and then he and Street Commissioner Proctor visited the scene and put a stop to the horse-play.

Glad to be Stopped.
The crew was glad to be officially stopped. They were getting a little weary and besides, official interference with the great work of building the interurban line was exactly what they had been sent to court. Other-wise in the logic of events, it might have been necessary to get some holes and ruts. The time stipulated by the franchise for the beginning of actual construction work has arrived and it will be rather hard to prove in court that the crew was not acting in good faith musing around in that gravel.

BIKE STOLEN BY WILLIE WHELOCK

From Bestwick Store and Sold to John Locke Boy Was Recovered by Chief Appleby Last Night.

When accused at the police station last evening of stealing a wheel from the J. M. Bestwick & Sons store last Friday night, fifteen year old Willie Wheelock, son of Adelbert Wheelock, who lives on North River street, strenuously denied any knowledge of the offense. But he finally broke down under Chief Appleby's cross-questioning and admitted that he took the bicycle and sold it to a son of John Joholasko, 470 North Main street, for seventy-five cents. The John Locke boy was an innocent party to the transaction and was released after the owner of the machine was returned to the owner this morning.

Young Wheelock has been a candidate for the reform school on more than one occasion. He and Willie Scrivens were before the court a while ago for getting intoxicated drinking the beer from bottles left in the rear of saloons. Scrivens was sent to the reformatory. Prior to that Wheelock was up for taking advantage of a good natured engineer and getting drunk at the Cronk brewery. When he was scarcely ten years old he was found drunk in the Jackson block.

No complaint against him for the theft of the bicycle has yet been sworn out.

MAIN ST. PAVING WORK COMPLETED

Gund-Graham Co. is Preparing to Move Outfit, Minus Stolen Wagon, to Freeport Tomorrow.

Paving work on South Main street, from St. Lawrence avenue to Hatch street, was practically completed yesterday and as the day's work on the hill is also finished, Mr. Graham of the Gund-Graham company is preparing to move his paraphernalia—minus a wagon which was stolen—to Freeport tomorrow. It will take the Rutledge concern about two weeks longer to complete its operations on Jackson street and elsewhere in the Third ward. Supt. W. E. Dull of the stone crushing plant checked up with Mr. Graham this morning. Some 1,300 1/2 yards of the material were hauled out to South Main street and 1,600 yards were used on Sinclair, South Second, and South Third streets. The consumer's figures differed from those of the city only by two yards. The crusher plant will be in operation some time yet providing material for paving South Main beyond the pavement and repairs on South Third street and Milton avenue.

LOCAL CAR ENTERED IN ENDURANCE TEST

One of the Monitor Automobile Trucks Will Contest in the Reliability Run Tomorrow.

Monitor Automobile Works of this city have entered a car in the commercial vehicle reliability run between Chicago and Milwaukee and return, which will be held on Friday and Saturday of this week. Some fifty-seven cars in all have been entered by the technical committee at Chicago yesterday morning for preliminary examination.

This is a very important test demonstration as it is the first reliability run of its kind in the middle west. It will do much to prove the economy of the commercial car over the present horse-drawn delivery. Each truck will be required to carry its full adjusted load capacity, which in the case of the local car is two thousand pounds.

Harring any serious accident the management of the Monitor Works are sure of a good record in the run. In order to give the car which is entered in the test a full try-out, it was sent to Chicago by the way of Milwaukee. With its load of one ton and three attendants, C. D. Mauley, driver, Wm. St. Clair, machinist, and Wm. Westerlund, President of the company, observer, the truck left Janesville last Friday morning for Milwaukee. Although the conditions were most unfavorable, as the roads were very muddy, the average time in the whole trip to Chicago was eleven miles per hour. The mechanism of the car worked so well that it was not necessary to go to the tool-box for a single repair or even a wrench during the entire trip. It seems certain that it will rank up well in the run tomorrow.

The ranking of the cars is made according to speed, reliability, and cost of fuel and oil per mile with relation to the load carried. The run is supposed to cover 200 miles, one-half of which is to be covered the first day, and the other half on Saturday. The route lies through Kenosha and Racine to Milwaukee.

At the same time this run is being made, there is to be a similar test of 200 miles in the east with New York as the starting point. The Monitor Works have a truck entered in this contest also, through their agents, the Plantagen Automobile Company of New York City. Both of these runs are under the auspices of the Chicago and New York Americans but the Milwaukee and Chicago Automobile Clubs are also interested in this western run. The outcome will be watched with a good deal of interest throughout the country as it promises to do much toward proving the efficiency of the commercial truck.

19th Annual Fall and Winter Opening Sale and Exhibit of New Styles and Smart Fashions for Fall and Winter, Saturday and Continues All the Following Week

The popularity of this store will be fittingly illustrated here Opening Week. Unapproachable value giving will be the magnet that will attract the largest crowd of shoppers ever assembled in any store in Southern Wisconsin.

Buying in larger quantities enables The Golden Eagle to undersell; you, as a logical thinker, know this to be the fact. It owns its merchandise at the minimum of cost and its one small profit taking plan of operating makes it possible for every patron to share in the benefits; and this really is one of the chief reasons of The Golden Eagle's continued growth and prosperity. Greater value giving is a strong inducement, a powerful trade-winner. The store selling only the best clothing and shoes and selling it for less money than its competitor, is certain to receive the major portion of the public's patronage. The Golden Eagle sells for less, and the people are showing their recognition of this fact in a most substantial manner.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I HAVE had everything that life has to offer. "By every rule and standard of the world I should have been happy. But the only happiness I have known has been in anticipation—anticipation of the things that I expected to bring happiness—and that did not."

Such is the recently published statement of a young woman in the prime of life and health, called by many critics "the most beautiful woman in the world," possessed of a magnificent talent, and plentifully supplied with all the good things that come out of the fleshpots of Egypt.

In other words, the grand opera singer, Lina Cavalotti.

There are just forty-eight words in that statement, and yet it appears to me as one of the greatest and most thought-provoking essays on the nature of happiness that has been published for many years.

It seems to me that if any discontented person who reads this, provided his discontent comes from dissatisfaction with his equipment, his possessions or his opportunities, would cut out that confession of Cavalotti's and paste it where he can see it daily, that might help some.

The proclamation, that happiness is more a state of mind than a matter of possession or position, is so familiar as to be almost a bromide.

And as an abstraction I suppose most of us accept it.

But when it comes to the concrete, I don't imagine there are many of us who don't look longingly at those who have wealth or beauty or talent, or whatever is to us the most desirable thing, and sigh out, "How happy they must be."

All this doesn't mean, of course, that wealth and talent and beauty and the fleshpots aren't things to be desired. Nor that they are incompatible with happiness.

Just that it is possible for one who has none of them to break bread daily with that much woeed but very shy lady—happiness—and for one who has them all, to pass his life in the company of her and never catch a glimpse of anything but her pale ghost—Anticipation.

I'm sorry for Cavalotti. I'm sorry that, with no apparent external barrier between her and happiness, there seems to have been something within herself that makes it impossible for her to find it.

But she surely has not suffered in vain. If, through her confession, those of us who are apt to fancy that if we had this or that or the other thing we would be "perfectly happy," may realize now and with a twentieth century application, the old truth that

"A MAN'S LIFE CONSISTETH NOT IN THE ABUNDANCE OF THINGS WHICH HE POSSETH."

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Thanksgiving is so near at hand that it is time for thoughts of the inevitable feast. Odd isn't it that the average man or woman can neither sorrow or rejoice without spreading a beautiful feast?

If you are far from home and kindred why not write to your John's mother for some of her favorite Thanksgiving recipes? Don't tell John and surprise him with some pie not only like mother's, but made after the same recipe.

I know one family where they always have roasted rabbit on Thanksgiving. It is a joke with the husband and wife which they always enjoy, though they will not tell why. It has to do with some of their early struggles.

At any rate the rabbit is a favorite of the children and the children who identify it with the day. There may be some little custom of that kind which your John has inherited in a vague, oh-sover-mind way over since you and he set up your household goods on the same altar. Find out now and make him especially thankful that he found you of all women in the big, wide world.

For pumpkin pie—One quart of pumpkin which has been cooked in the fireless cooker till it will go through a sieve. This should be done the day before using and allowed to settle. The water should be poured off before using. Add one cupful of brown sugar and season with ground ginger and cinnamon till it suits the taste. About two level teaspoonsful of each will be required. Pour well beaten eggs and two cupfuls of sweet milk which be well blended. Bake in very deep crust of delicate pastry. Do not cover the top with frosting or cream, but serve in all the golden richness of the genuine pumpkin pie.

Cranberry jelly should be made one or even two days before using. To make, cook one quart of berries in milk water as will keep from scorching. Run through a jelly bag. Use the regular formula—a pound for pint—and cook twenty minutes. This seldom falls to jelly.

When roasting the turkey do not forget that a thick blanket of flour and water and salt laid over the breast and drumsticks will ensure a tender, well-flavored bird with every bit of it eatable. Take blanket off before serving and brown a few minutes. The old time stringy legs will not be found on the turkey cooked in this way.

Use the casserole for cooking turnips and you will be sure of rich, tender vegetables. Cook a long time and select small turnips, which should not be cut up but left whole. Cook in deep water and pour off water when done. Cover with a hot white sauce and serve whole to each person. These are delicious.

WHAT OF THE BOY?

By MARY HESSILL.

There is an article in a recent magazine asking mothers if they really know their daughters. The question for the question becomes apparent when the testimony of terrible events is chronicled in newspapers and in juvenile courts is considered.

There is another question of vastly greater import—was tempted to say of vastly greater import—than this.

Mothers—and fathers—do you know your sons?

Is a boy's heart such open type—such plain reading—that he is no problem? If more sons were understood and properly trained there would be fewer daughters breaking the hearts of their parents.

In this same article there is mention made of the boy and his misdeeds, but apparently the teacher who finds a boy's obscene notes while longing to turn them over to the mother or father of the girl, never seemed for one instant to consider that perhaps she might turn them over to the mother or father of the boy.

Are a boy's sins so easily owned? I do not mean from the minds of society, but from his own life? Are not maxims and maxims as reliable? Should not a boy's soul be kept as clean as a girl's?

We teach a boy to be brave. To be honorable—according to a very low standard. To work. To earn money. To earn more money. And again to earn money. Might we not be better employed in teaching him how to live?

One young girl, sweet and clean and a gentleman, was carried away with a girl's passion for an older boy. She wrote him—in answer to his notes—little silly adventures. She thought it very romantic that he kept all her notes. She has since found out that he has a fat for collecting such notes which he reads to his boy friends. She would give a great deal to wipe them out of existence, or to gain possession of them, but does not dare tell her father of the girl's escapade, and the boy that laughs. A weaker girl might have placed herself innocently in the power of a more experienced man by her fear of her father, and the threats to show the notes. She might be dragged to depths that she never dreamed of, though she feels sufficiently humiliated now to imagine anything.

What of the boy's honor? He wrote notes to her which were far more loving than hers to him. Has he the right to do that and still be considered a decent boy? Of course he has all those rights. He owes nothing to a girl who will write notes. He would only be thought of as a decent boy if he should tell his father all about the notes and the girl. It would be a joke. "Puppy love" would account for it all.

It isn't fair. The girl is preached to and the woman is lectured—apparently all to make her fit to marry some man who has a lux sense of honor where women are concerned. She must be pure. Why? To match or counteract his impurity? She must be domestic to make a home that will hold—what? A man who must be held with as much care as if he were some kind of explosive?

It is right to talk to the girls. Mothers must keep their daughters' confidence to save them from irreparable injury; but, like many reformers, we are working from the top down. Women are conceded to be more moral than men, yet they get all the preachments.

Why not begin at the bottom of all the mischief and try to train boys to be so fine and honorable that they will not even think of betraying a girl into wrong situations? We will reduce the wrong situation to a minimum when we can make men and boys see that they have as many moral obligations as women and girls.

A boy is taught to play fair in all games, save only the biggest game of all—life! He is allowed to be a bully and a cheat where he should be most honorable.

Mothers—fathers—while training your daughters, do not forget your sons.

SIGNIFICANT CHANGES IN TREATING THE SICK.

Dr. William Osler, now professor of medicine at Oxford, a leading authority, says there are only four drugs that are of any value at all, but declines to say what they are. In the 1909 edition of his Practice of Medicine, Doctor Osler says that "the cure of tuberculosis is a question of nutrition." He also admits that diet is the only proper treatment for diabetes. It has long been admitted that the cause and cure of rheumatism is principally dietetic and the use of drugs in typhoid has been abandoned for physiological methods.

The change from materia medica to materia alimentaria is progressing rapidly. This does not mean that anesthetics, antiseptics or even stimulants will be abandoned, but only that internal medicine as a system of cure is being abandoned. Equally significant is the reaction from the other extreme, the exclusive use of psycho methods, ignoring material organic conditions.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Recipe

No Better Remedy at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been initiated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in galeol and all the natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Kitchen Cabinet

When we say we have not time for anything, we usually mean that we have not inclination for it. It is significant that most persons find time for what they are bound to do.

Pickles Like Mother Used to Make. The following are old and tried recipes which are never quite out of fashion by the new and up-to-date pickles:

Green Tomato Pickles—Slice one peck of green tomatoes into a jar, put a layer of tomatoes, then a few slices of onion, using half a dozen onions, sprinkle with a cupful of salt and let stand 24 hours, drain and add one quart of vinegar and choice of spices; cook until the vegetables are tender. When cold add a tablespoonful of ground mustard mixed with a little vinegar.

Ripe Cucumber Pickles—Cut ripe cucumbers in halves, cover with water, allowing two teaspoonfuls of powdered alum to each quart of water. Heat gradually to the boiling point, then let simmer for two hours on the back part of the range. Drain and chill in ice water. Make a syrup of two pounds of sugar and a pint of vinegar, with two tablespoonfuls each of whole cloves and cinnamon tied in a cloth. Remove the cucumbers and put in a stone jar; pour over them the boiling syrup. Seal the jar three successive mornings and pour over the cucumbers. Sweet pickles of different kinds may be prepared from the following recipe: Take 2 1/2 pounds of brown sugar, a pint of vinegar and seven pounds of fruit. Spicing is varied to suit the taste. Always put the spices in a small muslin bag, then it may be removed if the pickles are too strong with spice. Most people like one part cloves to two parts cinnamon for spicing. Crab apples are delicious pickled in this proportion; also pears and peaches.

Pickled Onions—For those who like pickled onions here is a good recipe: Select small silver-skinned onions, put them in a brine, after peeling carefully. Let stand three days in a brine that will float an egg. Drain and put in a jar, making a layer three inches deep; sprinkle with horse radish, cayenne pepper or chopped red pepper, cinnamon and cloves; repeat until the jar is full. Take vinegar to cover, add a cupful of brown sugar to a quart and pour boiling hot over the onions.

Not Up-to-Date. The little town of Hladsburg, Md., had a good bit of fun poked at it by reason of its alleged sloppiness. For instance, the story is told that a Hladsburg merchant was dining in his shop one day when a little boy came in with a pitcher and asked for a quart of milk. The merchant yawned, stretched himself, half opened his eyes, and then, in the most injured tone, said: "Geo whiz. Ain't there nobody that sells milk in this town but me?"

Queer Laundry Package. It is not uncommon for laundries to receive rings and other valuables with the soiled linen from their customers, but they seldom make such a discovery as one which has been made at Fulham, England. When a basket of linen was received from the country a few days ago the sorters were alarmed to see the upheaval of the contents and hear a plaintive cry. The linen was removed, and a black cat was found beneath.

Olive Oil For Beauty English Doctor's Prescription Starts New Fad in London

(Special Cable Dispatch to the Sun.)

London, April 7.—According to the well known Journal Family Doctor, fugged out society beauties may find salvation in olive oil. "The Family Doctor" relates how a French physician went to the King's physician during the season and said: "What shall I take for my complexion? I am a sight."

The reply was: "Take olive oil, live on it, live in it, drink it, dress your food with it, lubricate yourself with it."

As a result of following this advice the young woman achieved a complexion of rosy bloom, pink cheeks and glowing eyes. These luncheons have since become very popular.

COMMON SENSE CURE

FOR RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has for ages been a puzzle to the doctors. Some claim it to be an infection, a germ disease.
Others claim that the cause is uric acid, a kidney disease. It is said that uric acid is carried by the blood into the small arteries of the joints and skin where it crystallizes and it is this small, sharp crystals that cause intense pain with every motion of the body by cutting into the flesh and nerves. Whatever the cause, the best relief known is an Alkaline Elixir of the Sulfates. The chemical nature of the Sulfates is to form soluble compounds with the urates. In this way these crystals are dissolved, taken up by the blood and taken out of the body by the kidneys.

This rheumatic elixir is taken in teaspoonful doses in hot water before meals. The cure is often in a day or two, yet the remedy should be taken for some time to thoroughly neutralize the blood and prevent a recurrence of the trouble. The eliminations, as the doctors would say, that is the kidneys and the bowels, should be kept active. Rheumatic Elixir is compounded by Mr. Pfeiffer, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, who would be pleased to give you any other information you wish. Sold at E. C. Haderberg Co., Milwaukee and River St., the drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

Exercise as a Bad Habit.

Regular physical exercise, of the artificial kind is a habit which, just like the moderate use of light alcoholic beverages, has certain advantages, but which must also be held within the closest limits unless the disadvantages are to be greater. Certainly it is no less artificially introduced into our social life, and in this case too it is just as wise not to allow it to become a habit. To wander through the country on a fine day is a beautiful inspiration and healthful for every one. To need the walk with mechanical regularity is the product of bad training, and to become the slave of Swedish gymnastic apparatus is no better than slavery to cigars.—From Munsterberg's Problems of Today.

Conscious of Superiority.

confident." "Yes, he has just bought an encyclopedia and feels that if he doesn't know more than any of the rest of us he can whenever he chooses."

CONSERVATISM PREACHED BY THE BANKERS' ORATORS

DANQUET AT MYERS HOTEL MARKED CLOSE OF SESSIONS OF GROUP FIVE OF CONSIN BANKERS.

F. H. JACKMAN TOASTMASTER

His Introduction of the Speakers Clever and Witty—Jeffris, Deaton and Lombard Made Strong Talks.

Group Five of the Wisconsin State Bankers' association met in Janesville Wednesday for one of the most interesting sessions in their history.
Attended by some eighty members from seventy-five cities and towns it proved a successful meeting in point of numbers and also in the character of the work accomplished. The crowning event of the session however, came with the banquet tendered the visitors by the local bankers at the Myers Hotel last evening followed by the addresses of the men invited to speak. The big dining room of the hotel had been most tastefully decorated for the occasion and covers for one hundred and fourteen were laid.
A delicious menu faultlessly served with the bright lights, the handsome floral decorations made the event one to be remembered. The menu was as follows:

Menu of Oyster Soup
Celery Olives Salted Almonds
Baked Columbia River Salmon—Turtar Sauce
Sautéed Chicken
Braised Tenderloin of Beef—Mushrooms
Chard Potatoes
Baked Hubbard Squash
Combination Salad
Cheese Straws
Hot Home-Made Mince Pie
Roquefort Cheese Water Crackers
Demi-Tasse

If the sentiment expressed by the speakers on the post-prandial program can be called a criterion of the real opinions of the bankers of the state, as represented by Group Five, there is a wave of conservatism relative to the present political situation ready to express itself at the coming election. One would expect M. G. Jeffris to state his ideas of the present era of reform clearly and forcibly. Those who know Mr. Lombard, president of the National Exchange bank of Milwaukee, understand that he does not fear to call a spade a spade, but the surprise came when the latter speaker not only endorsed Mr. Jeffris' ideas but also went further and urged the bankers to take a part in the campaign against the so-called reform element.

Owing to the illness of John G. Rosford, Frank Jackman acted as toastmaster in a most royal manner. His introduction of the three speakers of the evening was most "put," placing the gentlemen who were to speak at their ease and also creating considerable merriment with clever stories of lawyer, politician and banker. Mr.
Jeffris was the first, his subject being "Modern Politics."

"Modern Politics" to Mr. Jeffris always typifies La Folletteism and all know this "jam" he bitterly opposes.
He stated he did not know what party he belonged to, referring to the incident of the republican state central committee reading Lincoln out of the party because he had dared to call the leader by word and deed. His definition of modern republicanism in Wisconsin means wholesale loyalty to the individual—not to the party.
He suggested the employment of a fool killer who should begin his work with the top. The present era is one of prosperity and the reformers have brought about a state of hysteria, even carrying the people with them in their mad flight. He criticized the name progressive as designating these reformers, having always understood the term progressive to mean one who does something, not one who tore down and upset existing conditions.
The reformers under the name of progressives sought only power.
Roosevelt evidently does not have the sympathy and support of the speaker as he depleted himself as disgusted with the ninety million people who waited breathlessly to discover what his views on the tariff were. It was even supposed of the Outlook since Roosevelt came back, traveling from one end of the country to the other in private trains to expand his doctrines. La Follette he characterized as a new "Peter the Hermit," seeking to touch a nation to rescue the people from what—the big interests which all combined does not equal the annual crop value of any ordinary year.
However, he saw good to come with La Follette having Roosevelt, Roosevelt having La Follette, and Cummins of Iowa having both. "God's Patient Power" will at last come to their own.
Mr. Jeffris then took up the Wisconsin republican platform and riddled it from the present primary law down through the proposed initiative, referendum and recall system. State incomes are greater than ever and still new commissions are sought to make them greater. He laughed at the plan for conservation of the natural resources with Pinchot's $9,000,000 expenditure—$18,000,000 was for conservation and but one million for the conservation. What he thought the country needed was conservation of country sense. As to the primary election he characterized it as infamous, base and degrading, destructive to the republican form of government and creative of the system of bossism illustrating it by the Hancock incident and the order to vote for a man who was dead days before the primary.
As an illustration of what the primary did the speaker cited the fact that their candidate for congress in Milwaukee, Henry Cochems, had violated the law by acting as a lobbyist without registering, yet he was endorsed. He said the bankers were to blame for these conditions. In that they had not advised their clients and had not warned them of the consequences. Jeffris' speech was in general all in line with the characteristic addresses on conditions as he showed them and from the applause evidently his hearers were in sympathy with him.

When Toastmaster Jackman introduced Rev. David Benton with a clever quip on the minister as a golfer, that gentleman made the most courteous, courteous of answers and told Scotch story after story until he reached the pitch of his remarks which had for its subject, "Character as a Commercial Asset." This he believed should be carried over in the child, in the public schools. The gentleness of the country is given over to the development of the material resources. Intellect, great intellect, does not of necessity mean great virtue. Power in one person—not political power—was attained by mystery of affairs. These individual leaders are morally responsible for the condition of the country. In days of the past it was whether it was the eastern or the western empire that should rule the world that men fought over and sought for. Today it is considered warfare, the credit of today being the material power of the past.

Credit, he defined as an intangible spiritual creation, established by absolute confidence in the principles of human nature and by that of imagination. The bankers in the individual community represents the best. All banking systems are of trust and the paramount thing in the world is the creation of confidence in the community, to create an atmosphere of perfect security. Had not this been done banking would have died years ago. The loss by failures is but in-fantesimal.

What creates confidence in the character of the individual. Man is the original creative force for all values. We measure value by money of what one man can earn, or produce as compared with another. Here the speaker came to the pitch of his argument, the necessity of the cure in the public schools of creating character.
Politics and morality are vital to success, but the glory of the nation is the public school system and the work of the educators is most essential in creating character which is an asset in the commercial world. Failure to develop idealism is deplorable. Greece, Rome, Florence all became great through idealism.

Dr. Deaton stated that the great crimes are all committed by great lunatics—boys in years. Crime means the expenditure of taxes in the punishment of the criminals and increased and heavy taxation means the ruination of modern civilization. Any community that ignores the increase in taxes must suffer. Taxes mean mortality, all Anglo-Saxon freedom being based on the common right of taxation. He urged his hearers to turn aside from their every day work and encourage the educator to develop the young people into a sense of responsibility to the community.

The speaker closed with calling attention to the fact that there is a great heritage behind the bankers of today. Great men of the world whom he named were bankers, and upon the bankers rested the responsibility of establishing the confidence of the community and the development of the character of the individuals.
Through his talk Dr. Deaton told many stories to illustrate his points, described actual scenes and experiences of his own and with all held the present educational system of the country was most necessary to establish character, which is the commercial asset.

J. W. P. Lombard, of Milwaukee was the last speaker, his subject being Confidence. This he stated was the greatest asset of any community. It is the basis of friendship of home and of good government.

Confidence spells success. The people blame the flunkeys for all the evils that exist and it makes a good cry for the reformers who really seek more law to create more lawless.
There must be confidence in religious work, but not half way confidence, the same is true of business and politics.
Mr. Lombard paid his respects to present politics by stating that no strut party has been drawn as the party was but little distinction except there should have been, that the present actions were tending to destroy what little confidence was left in the people themselves. This disappointment was not sudden. He believed it dated back to Bryan with his Cross of Gold speech, followed by Roosevelt's mauling of great wealth, his Spanish club, edged on by the yellow journals which created the money panic of 1907, these were the real causes, not the vested interests as claimed by reformer, brought on by

COFFEE WAS IT.
People Slowly Learn the Facts.

"All my life I have been such a slave to coffee that the very aroma of it was enough to set my nerves quivering. I kept gradually losing my health but I used to say 'honesty, it don't hurt me.'"

"Slowly I was forced to admit the truth and the final result was that my whole nervous force was shattered."

"My heart became weak and uncertain in its action and that frightened me. Finally my physician told me about a year ago, that I must stop drinking coffee or I could never expect to be well again."

"I was in despair for the very thought of the medicines I had tried so many times, nauseated me. I thought of Postum but could hardly bring myself to give up the coffee."

"Finally I concluded that I owed it to myself to give Postum a trial. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions, and what a delicious nourishing, rich drink it was! Do you know I found it very easy to shift from coffee to Postum and not mind the change at all?"

"Almost immediately after I made the change I found myself better, and as the days went by I kept on improving. My nerves grew sound and steady, I slept well and felt strong and well-balanced all the time."

"Now I am completely cured, with the old nervousness and sickness all gone. In every way I am well once more."

"It pays to give up the drink that acts on some the poison, for health is the greatest fortune one can have."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellness," in plain, "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

the loss of confidence of the people themself.

Mr. Lombard said that Elton, a reformer, was asked if the progressives should win this fall would it bring about another panic and his answer was characteristic. It might if the special interests saw fit. He blamed the special interests when it was the lack of confidence that was begot by these reformers. Confidence is the handmaiden of progress, then why call these men progressives who seek to tear down and destroy public confidence rather than uphold it?
He confidence rather than uphold it?
The movement was merely one of the politicians seeking to create new villies.

Here the speaker took a decided dig at the state university, calling it the political incubator of the state that turned out each year several hundred young men who were specially fitted to fill these places and be supported at public expense. He, however, praised some results of the departments of the state school. He also warned his hearers against the cry of no taxes when the special taxes were greater today than ever and more were even now planned for.

The loss of confidence tends towards a panic condition but should it come the speaker had confidence the vested interests would do as they had done in the past, come to the rescue of the people and he also had unbounded faith in the natural resources of the country which thus far had escaped the ravages of the greed of the politicians although they now sought to gain control of them. Politicians he called the undertakers of public confidence but still had faith in universal suffrage and urged his hearers to have the moral courage to oppose the present distorted vision of the reformers and have strength to oppose all attempts to create a cantile of class against class.

With thanks to the speakers of the evening, to those of the afternoon session, Toastmaster Jackman then closed the meeting. George M. Keynolds, who spoke in the afternoon session was unable to be present. In the evening owing to the illness of his wife, Margaret, he was unable to be present.
Many came from Beloit and Janesville by car and interurban directors and employees of the local and adjacent banks, being invited guests.

BIG WHOOP-LA FOR --TOTAL DEPRAVITY

"The Girl in the Taxi" Presented by Capable Company, Pleased Large Audience at the Myers.

There is plenty of action in "The Girl in the Taxi," the French importation in farce-comedy which was revealed at the Myers theatre last evening, and the humorists situations are numerous and badly in need of liberal applications of chloride of lime. Two absurd women of the old school of decency and upright living, a blatant scientist who is trying to demonstrate his pet theory of atomism, and a silly old perfumer are the only characters in the play who can lay claim to a vestige of respectability, and in the face of the overwhelming returns from the "Midnight Song"—the husband, nephew, and son who enact the roles of four human tomcats—the two women and the performer give it up as a bad proposition. The central character is all that her sobriquet implies, and the rest of the females—the same and more so. Nearly all of the parts are well taken and well acted by a capable troupe. Hobbs Barry who whined and dromed and danced some in "Little Johnny Jones" plays the part of "Bertie," a role well suited to his abilities. "Bertie" carries the theory of atomism clear back to the prehistoric ancestors and kinks good. Harry Haddon is excellent as the old hypocrite "John Stewart."

Nicholas Jankels is immense as "Alexander," the head waiter at "Charleston." George Richards gives a characteristic portrayal of the manufacturer of possible National Guard. Pearl Shindler makes "Mignon, the Girl in the Taxi" very amusing in her way. Cecile Breton is excellent as "Marlette," the maid. Richard Bartlett extracts a great deal of legitimate humor and much of the other kind from the role of "Percy Peters," the nephew with a snide affliction which enables him to get an occasional "night off" in gay Gotham. If one were inclined to be proud it would be hard to tell just where to stop laughing at this big whoop-la for total depravity. Few bothered about such considerations last evening. There was a large audience of entire respectable people and tokens of genuine enjoyment were frequent.

A Motor On Trial

One of the beauties about individual electric motor drive is this: You don't have to start out with a lot of expensive equipment and run the risk of getting STUNG. You can try a single motor at little expense and no inconvenience.

Study it, watch it work, tabulate results. From it you can learn just what a complete installation of motors will mean.

Most people who start with one motor end with a complete electrical equipment, and become enthusiastic converts to electric power. If they find it profitable to use individual motor drive, mightn't you? Why not install a single motor and form your own opinion?
